

Awareness Without Intrusion Planning for Aging-in-Place

What This Is

This page explains an awareness option (Alerta Home) that can help families extending aging-in-place at home.

During legal or financial planning, families often seek awareness tools that are non-disruptive, without surveillance.

Alerta Home is a passive awareness system that detects meaningful changes in daily movement or activities, without cameras, recorders, or wearables.

Who This Is For

- Adult children planning proactively for parents.
- Families navigating POA, trusts, or care planning.
- Situations where independence is prioritized.
- Early-stage decision-making.

When Families Typically Consider This

- During early planning stages.
- When aligning care options with financial realities.
- When aiming to delay higher-cost interventions.
- Before major transitions.
- When seeking insights without immediate action.

Awareness Without Intrusion Planning for Aging-in-Place

What This Is Not

- Replacement for caregivers.
- Caregiver performance monitor.
- Emergency response provider.
- Care recipient tracker in real-time.
- Alerta Home is intended to complement human care, not replace professional judgment or presence.
